

Our Book

A book called 'Buckinghamshire's Favourite Churches' was launched on the 1st of June 2007 in Stowe. Written by a well know historian and fully illustrated in colour it traces the development of religious architecture in the county from Saxon times until the present day. There is also a chapter on non-conformist and Catholic Architecture reflecting the county's long and honourable tradition of dissent from the established church.

Celebrating the Trust's 50 years of aid to Buckinghamshire's historic churches, this unique book is available by mail order. Lavishly illustrated in ful colour the 148 page book describes in detail the history and architecture of 50 Anglican and five other churches throughout the county.

Written by local historian, Julian Hunt, it is both authoritative and easy to read covering all the main architectural periods from Saxon to the present day.
